

Abstract

Embodiments of the present invention relate to software for adjusting the accounting records of a business venture to reflect a new allocation of shares in the venture among a plurality of entities.